The Maine lobsterboat is known and admired all over the world. Designed by Royal Lowell, this 36ft. lobsterboat with her fine lines is his most sought after wooden design. Her clean lines and simplistic design appeal to even the novice builders. It's been said of the boat that not only is she beautiful and sleek, but many that have built this design said that it was the dream of their life to build her. Royal Lowell was the grandson of the legendary William Frost of Beals Island.
